Edison has two political matters of interest left with which he can amuse himself, viz: a warrant to be appointed for the jail and a postmaster to be made. Candidates are not scarce.

Allegiance no longer requires a gentleman to show his last of when meeting ladies on the street. A police boy is no profane, is the latest.

A meeting of representatives of the 3000 miners employed by Charles Farnish & Co., was held at Wilkesbarre on Saturday night, and Mr. Farnish's proposition to grant an advance of ten per cent. dating from November 1st, was accepted. The Company agrees to pay a further advance of ten per cent. should the price of coal rise over 25 per cent. in December.

Trains Sent to Limbo.
On Monday evening last three trains put in appearance in our borough, and applied to one of the Overseers of the Poor for lodgings; being refused, they left, threatening that they would have lodgings by some means, and straightway proceeded to the store of E. H. Snyder, on Bank street, and impounded that gentleman for lodgings, and being informed that he had nothing to do with furnishing accommodations for them, they proceeded to the street, and lifting a large stone, hurled it with great force through the heavy plate-glass window, demolishing it and a number of articles of chinaware on exhibition in the window, and passing into the store for a short distance from the person of Mr. Snyder. A rush was made for the misericords, and but for the timely arrival of the Chief Burgess, they would have received from the crowd gathered around by the noise, that punishment, on the spot, which their demerit and unprovoked destruction of property so richly merited. The three vagabonds were arrested and taken before Justice Beck, where they gave the names of Al Wright, James Brady and Christian Polyer. After an examination, they were committed to our county jail to await trial for malicious mischief, and as professional tramps. Mr. Snyder places his loss for the window at $57. They should, and we hope will, at the next term of Court, receive such punishment as will deter others from the commission of a like misdeed and cowardly act. There is now ample employment in the county for laboring men, if they desire it, and consequently no need of tramping, and all such when brought before Court and proven guilty, should be allowed to escape with a light penalty. Let the new tramp law be most rigidly and vigorously enforced!

Accused of Mismanagement.
A special from Pittsburg, of the 23rd inst., says, on Saturday, in the United States Circuit Court, suit against the receivers of the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal Company, by the administrators of J. B. McCready, a former stockholder to the extent of $400,000. S. S. Pettit represented the administrators. Mr. McCready obtained a rule against Benjamin Williams, of New Jersey, W. H. Tillinghast, of New York, and E. W. Clark of Philadelphia, to show cause why they should not give bonds in the sum of $500,000. The administrators claim that the receivers have managed their trust so badly as to cause a loss of over one million of dollars to the company. According to the statement of the plaintiff, the mining of the company's coal has been let out to Charles Parish of Wilkesbarre and E. B. Leisenring of Mauch Chunk the former being President of the company which assigns the contract. The plaintiff alleges that these contractors have made inordinately large profits in the transaction, clearing $40,000 per month for months together. The coal is sold through a New York broker, F. A. Potts, who has accepted price 20 cents less per ton than coal of the same quality commanded by other companies. As this company mines a million tons of coal per year, such a discount is of considerable importance. Until a short time ago the company operated the Lehigh Transportation Company's mines, of which E. W. Clark was president, and also one of the receivers of the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal Company. Since the expiration of this contract Clark has been getting 40 cents more for his coal than when the contract expired.

Obituary.
Judge Charles S. Coke, died at his residence in Drifton, at nine o'clock Wednesday night, the 19th inst., at the advanced age of 89 years. For some time past he had been slowly, but surely sinking, and the end was momentarily expected. Medical attention of the very highest reputation was summoned from an instance for consultation with his family physician, Dr. George S. Wentz; but the efforts of all proved unavailing. Charles S. Coke, the oldest member of the Philadelphia bar though long retired from practice, was the last surviving son of French Coke, one of the earliest American writers on political economy, member of the Annapolis Convention and of the last Continental Congress, assistant secretary of the treasury and commissioner of the revenue under Washington, and surveyor of public supplies under Jefferson and Madison. The great grandfather of French Coke, Dr. Daniel Coke, of London, was the proprietor of West Jersey and that of Carolina, and sent out the first ships that entered the Mississippi from the sea. His son and successor, Col. Daniel Coke, settled at Burlington at the beginning of the last century, and filled many important stations in the province of New Jersey. French Coke lived in Philadelphia, and here his son Charles, was born, and after graduating from the University of Pennsylvania was admitted to the bar in 1812. He was a man of great ability, notwithstanding the interruption of a service with the State Penitentiary in the war of 1812, and attained judicial honors; but the death of his father, in 1824, left him one of the heirs of a great tract of coal land, the development of which withdrew him from the practice of the law and made him a wealthy man. He married Miss Britton, and leaves two daughters and four sons, all of whom are men of prominence.

A New Counterfeit.
A new $5 counterfeit greenback has made its appearance and is so good an imitation that it has deceived even bank officials. It is the new issue of the greenback—no national bank—and those which have been examined are of the series "C." The face of the bill is remarkably well executed and will deceive even the best judges. The paper is good, though not of the best quality, it is rather thin and light, not having quite the body of the genuine, and the bills have the appearance of being somewhat worn. Its spurious character, however, is readily discovered upon inspection of the back of the bill. Between the vignette in the center of the back, and the left end, is an unprinted space, which in the genuine is filled with silk fibers, apparently woven or milled into the paper. In the counterfeit there is none of this fiber, but instead a neatly executed representation of the same, made with ink. It is, all in all, one of the most dangerous counterfeit in circulation.

Death of a Lutheran Divine.
Rev. Dr. C. F. Schaeffer, a prominent divine of the Lutheran Church, died at his residence, No. 1244 Mt. Vernon street Philadelphia, Sunday morning, in the 73d year of his age. Dr. Schaeffer was born in Germantown in 1847, graduated at the University of Pennsylvania in 1872 and entered the ministry in 1879. During his life he held several important pastorates, and was for a number of years professor of theology in the college at Columbia, Ohio, and for nearly nine years he held a similar position in the seminary at Gettysburg. When the Lutheran seminary was established in New York in 1884, Dr. Schaeffer became its first professor and chairman of the faculty. He had been in feeble health about a year previous to his death.

Washing Trimmings.
The home stretch is taken in the evening on the sea.

The Democratic party resembles the earth—it is a little better than the soil.
All our teachers, with the exception of Messrs. Yundt and Thompson, attended, the county institute last week.

E. S. Hopper and Frank Klingman were in Mahoning City last Sunday.
Edward Kistler, of this place, and his cousin Miss Alvina Mantz of Lehigh, were up at North Penn last Saturday and Sunday.

A. J. Belliet had the good luck to shoot two wild ducks at one shot last Thursday.
Frank Butler, of Centreville, and Miss Deborah Longner, of Centre Square, were guests of Nathan Garber last Saturday evening.

Jack, Bob and the Flow gang do not attend the society any more. They are afraid to go through Balliet's grove on account of the wild ducks which have recently been seen by one of our old residents.
I think it is better for a young man when he goes to church, to listen to what the minister says than to ask the name of the young lady with the big white feather on her hair.

Emma Garber was at Mauch Chunk last Thursday, a guest of her uncle John Sittler.
Mr. Enbely, of Centre Square, drove two fine heaves through the valley on Monday afternoon for John Miller.

We had the pleasure, on Sunday evening of listening to a very able and well-organized sermon delivered by Rev. Shellhammer, in the Evangelical church.
We learn that Mr. Seidel has disposed of his cattle in a very short time. He has had several droves during the past few months and had no trouble in effecting sales.

John Newmyer intends to leave for Silver Spring, next Monday, where he expects to find employment.
Miss Lisa Miller, of East Mauch Chunk, was in our valley last week doing some sewing for Mrs. W. P. Semer.

Daniel York and wife, of Lewistown Schuylkill Co., paid a visit to Henry Bretney, arriving on Saturday and leaving on Sunday.
The boys of the cat which is some eight or nine years old.

On Tuesday morning Edwin Hough and Wm. Schaeffer arrived unexpectedly in the middle of the night. Who after in the evening they were entertained by quite a number of the smiling daughters and gentlemen of the valley. Who after in the evening they were entertained by quite a number of the smiling daughters and gentlemen of the valley.

The teachers of this district were here to acknowledge their hearty thanks to Superintendent Hoffer for his warm appreciation of a year's service in the school which they had taken. He remarked that it showed more interest for the advancement of education on their part than on the directors' part.

The Excelsior Literary Society was well attended on Wednesday evening of last week. The question discussed was "Reverend George Washington." Who after in the evening they were entertained by quite a number of the smiling daughters and gentlemen of the valley.

Mauch Chunk Notes.
The Jury Commissioners met on Monday, and drew the lists of jurors for the January term of Court.

Mr. L. E. Klotz, who has been sick for some weeks, and who was at one time feared was dangerously ill of Typhoid fever, has so far recovered as to be able to be out.
A good constitution, and extraordinary vital powers, he himself believes was all that saved him from a more disastrous condition.

The contract to build the bridge over the Poho-Poo creek, at Trachville, has been awarded by the county Commissioners, to David Youngkin, of that township.
Thinking passed off in the quietest manner imaginable; the day having been spent here principally in social festivities around the family board.

We stated last week that the Kate Trenchon, of the Lehigh, would give a concert at the Mansion House on the 29th of Dec. We should have said Monday evening, the 1st of December. The programme is a most excellent one, and the artists who will take part are too well known to need commendation at our hands. Mr. Weibert, proprietor of the Mansion House, will be the hall for the concert, satisfied himself that the entertainment would be a first-class one, and he ventures that the concert, in point of musical excellence will rival anything of the kind ever heretofore given in Mauch Chunk.

Re-opening Services.
On Sunday last the Evangelical church, of this borough, after having undergone a thorough papering and decoration at the hands of E. F. Luckenbach, of Mauch Chunk, was re-opened by appropriate services in the morning, afternoon and evening.

Rev. Wm. W. Wick, of Pine Run, while out on Monday last, found that his dog was hunting a bear; he found the bear came after a bear; he found the bear came after a bear; he found the bear came after a bear.

Miss Susan Kistler was visiting her sister at Mauch Chunk last Wednesday.
There were quite a number of sportsmen here from Mauch Chunk last week, among them our own friend, Sam. Butler. They were out for a good pack on account of the cold and snow.

A time which is always before us—Tomorrow.
A young lady Sabbath School teacher was recently called upon to impress upon the minds of her scholars the sin and punishment of Achan's sin, and when she said that seven years he ate grass like a cow, she was astonished by a little girl who asked, "Why he ate grass like a cow?"

Wm. Lewis was confined to the house a few days last week with a cold.
Wm. Meier shot a white hare last Saturday.

Samuel Kistler and J. C. Diester returned from the Swamp last Saturday.
John Diester is adding a porch to the east side of his dwelling.
